

We like to move you.

UTS® INTERNATIONAL

Because you do not just move to another address.

Just as every family is unique, so is every move. We can offer help to make everyone's adjustment as smooth as possible. After all, you're not just moving possessions. You're moving people and you have entrusted us to help you. UTS International takes all the worries of your relocating colleagues out of your hands, such as packing, inventory, transport, customs clearance and complete delivery to the new address of your colleague. By ensuring that the items arrive at their destination quickly and safely, we ensure that your colleagues will quickly feel at home in their new house and environment.

So relax. We are in your team. In short, UTS International arranges the move from A to Z, from 10 boxes to complete households.

We are specialized in the human aspect of the move.

Your colleagues possessions represent a lifetime of memories. Some are fragile, like that curiosa cabinet filled with collectibles, or the antique sideboard full of china. We believe that every personal item we touch is precious and deserves the utmost care. For your added security, we provide coverage against damage or loss, with affordable options for full value protection.

We take pride in the expertise of our seasoned moving teams, who possess all the skills that extensive training and years of experience can provide. Your colleagues will notice that everything they do reflects a respect for your colleagues properties, like using protective materials, special techniques, and extra precautions during packing, loading and unloading.

100% unburdening.

Change can be stressful. But it does not have to be that way. That is why we stay in close contact with you and your colleagues during the move. We are available 24 hours a day, seven days a week to answer questions or to deal with unforeseen situations directly. Besides this, you'll get one contact person with full responsibility, from origin to destination and an unique portal with up-to-date information.

We also think along with you in the costs.

For a large number of destinations it is possible to send freight combined in so-called "groupage". This can often result in significant cost savings if the quantity of goods occupies less than a full container. In case of groupage, the goods are loaded by UTS International together with other equivalent parties in a 20-foot or 40-foot container, after which they are shipped to the port of destination. Once there, the container is unloaded in the local warehouse representing UTS International and the goods are delivered to the final address, of course in full compliance with your relocating colleague.
